

TIMELY STORAGE

DAY USE LOCKERS

Day Use Locker – n. A storage unit that provides security for one cycle, or one person, and is then either manually or automatically reset for the next person.

People carry around a lot of STUFF. Not because we like to, but because we have to – we need it. Universities, libraries, municipal buildings, hospitals, sports and fitness centers, and other facilities that accommodate commuters and guests on a regular basis may have a need for day use lockers. Staff, students, and visitors travel with their possessions, and it becomes the facilities' job to creatively cater to their needs, which includes providing a place to store our STUFF.

Lock Options – Combination locks are not conducive for temporary use, because manually resetting the combination after each person would be cumbersome. There are a variety of lock options to consider including: Digilok, Hasp, Coin, and Keyed.

Modularity – Here is a locker system that adapts as fast as you do, and looks good while doing it. This modular locker system has sizes that fit any space, and configurations that meet varied demands. They are an elegant, adaptable, long-term solution for day use storage requirements.

Simply put, it's where you store your STUFF.
